

I am opposed to any change in FCC rules that would allow an owner to have a monopoly in a market area. Such a change would probably mean the end of local and small business broadcast ownership. Such a change would also limit the variety of programming and editorial views, which would be detrimental to our democracy. On the contrary, FCC rules should continue to foster the availability of competitive ownership in all markets.